The Honors Program will be paying for them to go to the conference and we would like to invite two other honors students to accompany them. All four students will drive down together on Friday and stay in two hotel rooms, returning Sunday. We will pay for the conference registration, a few meals (I'll explain that later), and the mileage. In order to accompany Dan and Ally, please email Dr. Levy a paragraph on why you'd like to attend this conference (more about it can be found here: <http://www.okcu.edu/honors/conference/>) by Tuesday April 3rd.

ALL MAJORS WELCOMED!

Agency representatives will cover a broad range of topics to include the Agency mission, potential career opportunities, the on-line application process, and a question and answer period. Students are welcomed to bring a resume.

When you choose to join the dedicated professionals of the CIA, you become a part of an agency that plays a critical role in the national security of our country. Your work has special significance. You find rewards and fulfillment in your role, and you share in the pride that comes from serving your country. The CIA offers extraordinary opportunities for a wide range and variety of professionals.

VI. If you are interested in any aspect of the Honors-UA Partnership (i.e. the work-study or club-coordinator positions) for AY 07-08, please come to an information meeting, immediately after Colloquium at 4pm on Wed. April 4 in either 104 Cockefair Hall or a nearby room.

If you can't make this meeting but are interested in perhaps participating next year, please contact Hannah at hllmb7@umkc.edu

Very Truly Yours,
